

OVER THE CAPITAL CITY.

Complete Recital of the Day's Deeds and Doings.

The Old Mill—Welcome Straws—Neighborhood Notes—General Summary.

The Electors Will Meet Here. C. W. Fulton, William Kapus and Robert McLean, the electors chosen at the recent election, will meet in this city, on Wednesday, December 5th, and vote by ballot for president and vice-president of the United States.

A Sick Young Man.

Through the courtesy of Dr. Henderson we were to-day permitted to visit the sick room in the "bank block" occupied by David Robertson, a young man lately from Kansas. Directly after his arrival here he worked at the "boarding hall" for some time, after which he was employed by Dr. Shelton, where he was taken sick.

Smallpox in a Postoffice.

The postmaster at Wolf Creek refuses to handle the mail from the Glendale postoffice, as there is smallpox at the latter place. The family of the Glendale postmaster are down with the smallpox and are strictly quarantined, for that reason the Wolf Creek man says he "won't touch their mail under any circumstances."

These offices are both on the Ashland run and in this case the smallpox is situated right in the postoffice and the Wolf Creek man cannot be blamed for doing just as he did, and till after the quarantine is raised the smallpox stricken office will neither send out nor receive mail.

The Noted Evangelist.

Dr. Thomas Porter, the Australian evangelist, is still conducting the revival services in the Christian church each night. The remark has been heard that though very unsectarian in his way of presenting the claims of the gospel but one minister of other churches has attended any of the services, although Salem has been noted, heretofore, for fraternal spirit manifested in revival efforts.

Receives His Sentence.

OREGON CITY, Nov. 15.—Louis Hamilton was sentenced this morning at 9 o'clock to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary, for the stabbing of Shelby Murray, some weeks ago.

A case of smallpox is reported at Canemah, one mile south of Oregon City.

Albany Rejoices To-night.

The ratification of Harrison and Morton's election in Albany to-night promises to be a big demonstration. A car load of torches, flambeaux, fireworks, etc., were sent up from Portland and a general big time will be had. Ed. Hirsch of Salem is one of the vice-presidents.

Use the Utmost Care.

In view of the prevalence of smallpox in Portland, and its liability to spread, too much precaution cannot be taken. Vaccination is the sure preventative, however much cream tartar may assist in keeping off the disease.

Eugene Will Quarantine.

Late advices from Eugene are to the effect that that enterprising city is about to institute a strict quarantine against the outside world. The health officers are considering the matter to-day, but have not yet reached a conclusion.

Now that election is over and winter coming on apace in the east, new comers from beyond the Rockies are arriving here quite freely.

Mellis & Co. of Portland, yesterday afternoon filed with the secretary of state a trade mark of "The Boquet," this couplet to be used in their millinery business.

W. P. Johnson, so well known as a successful photographer of this city, left to-day, with his family for Whateam, W. T., where he will make his home.

There is an increased interest and attendance at the Christian church each evening. Rev. Porter is doing a good work. His talks are full of sound wisdom and eloquent appeals.

F. M. Street, of the Daily Hotel Advertiser, is in the capital city to-day, looking up the interests of his paper. He is much impressed with the enthusiastic manner in which Salem is attacking the street car enterprise.

Last night was a trifle more on the order of winter than any of the previous evenings. The mercury slipped down and came near injuring itself on the freezing, stiffening mud. This morning at 8 o'clock it was 40°, with a bright, warm sun which had the power to again coax the summer flowers from their cozy hiding places.

HUBBARD HERE.

Hubbard is a little quiet just now. The school here is in a fine condition now with G. H. Beebe as teacher.

Heretofore Hubbard will be heard from weekly through the columns of the JOURNAL.

Our hotel here is being repainted and rejuvenated and will soon look like a new building.

Quite a few of the citizens subscribed for the JOURNAL from the agent who paid this place a visit Tuesday.

Most of the Hubbardians are jubilant over the result of the election.—A few weddings have occurred here lately.

L. J. Priest, who came here last spring from Mino county, Dakota, was so well pleased with Oregon that he last week brought his family from Dakota and will make this place his home. He reports a severe storm in Dakota and raw unpleasant weather. The change from there to the weather we are enjoying here is a very pleasant one.

Misher Bros. of Woodburn on the 6th of this month started their elder mill. After this week they will only run Tuesdays and Wednesdays. The following facts were gleaned from a visit to their mill. Rambos make excellent cider and a much greater quantity than many other varieties of apples. They will make about three gallons of elder to the bushel. The cider is made for two cents per gallon when the apples are furnished. When they furnish their own apples the elder is worth fifteen cents per gallon.

VIS.

Baths laid in Silverton.

Work of laying rails along the line of the narrow gauge is progressing at a rapid pace. The track is completed as far as Silverton, where the construction train is side-tracked. This long deferred stroke of enterprise on the part of the management of the narrow gauge meets with the hearty approval of the shippers of the valley.

OCCIDENTAL JOTTINGS.

News And Notes of a General Interest to the Westerner.

The republicans of Oregon City will hold a jubilee next Saturday evening, the preparations for which already indicate that it will be the most elaborate affair of the kind ever known in that place.

Reports from the interior ranges are discouraging. Grass is short, frosts are heavy and stock poor. Wherever sheep have taken to the range the hills there are bare, and stock of all kinds have to be fed.

The successful bidders for the contract to clear the right of way for the Astoria road through Skipanon woods consist of a Scandinavian syndicate. The contract has been duly signed and the men commenced the work yesterday morning.

At the recent election in Washington territory, at different polling places, women offered their ballots but were refused by the election boards in consequence of the recent decision by the supreme court that the woman suffrage bill was unconstitutional.

The board of United States engineers, who visited Yaquina bay to make an inspection with the idea of preparing a general project for the improvement of the bay, have agreed upon a report, but will not make it public at present. It may be possible to get a 15-foot channel at low water, and as the tide rises about seven feet quite large ships may in the future enter the bay in safety.

Amos Harvey was arrested at Albany yesterday by Deputy U. S. Marshal George Humphry on a charge of selling whisky to Indians. The prisoner was taken to Portland.

The schools of Roseburg have closed for two weeks, to give pupils time for vaccination, which is made compulsory. There are no cases of smallpox in Roseburg, but one malignant case has broken out at Glendale, a neighboring town.

Livingston Stone, in charge of the salmon hatchery in the Clackamas river, says that notwithstanding the unpromising outlook at the beginning of the season the hatchery has proved a success and will probably turn out more Chinook salmon this season than any other hatchery in the country. The output for the season will be 44,000,000 fish. Half a million have already been deposited at various points up and down Clark creek and the Clackamas, and 3,500,000 will be turned over to the State Commissioners when they take charge of the hatchery on the 15th inst.

The Mill Will Start Up.

A visit to what is known as the "old mill" disclosed the fact that a great amount of oiling and cleaning up was going on, preparatory to starting up the machinery in a few days. Everything is being placed in readiness to start up this popular flouring mill and keep it running to its full capacity of one hundred and twenty-five barrels per day. The machinery is being overhauled, and all things will be arranged anew within two weeks, by which time they hope to be able to turn on the power. This is a good move on the part of the management of this piece of property. The old mill closed down upon the completion of the Capitol mill and has not done much since, but now that it starts up with renewed vigor much may be accomplished. Pertinent to this, it might be well to suggest that it would be a good move for the O. & C. to extend their "spur" on to a connection with these mills. Why would it not be a good plan?

Across the Continent.

From the Atlantic seaboard daily journey thousands of immigrants, hosts of enterprising tourists for pleasure, occasional European seekers for material for books in America, multitudes of hardy artisans, all eager and expectant but all unacquainted to the new climate of the frontier, and all unfit—unless protected with a medical safeguard—to encounter malaria, the chief foe to health in regions newly cleared and opened up for settlement. These western-bound travelers will find in Hoelter's stomach Bitters the safety from malarial infection they might vainly seek from other sources. Tried in all parts of the world, under exigencies the best fitted to show its value, it has failed nowhere under the most exacting conditions. In so many lands is it in request that the demand for it may well be termed universal. Not only malaria, but constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, rheumatism, debility, nervousness and indigestion of the kidneys are thoroughly relieved by it.

The Dallas Jail.

The new iron cells in the jail at Dallas are nearly completed and the old bastille will soon be ready to again receive and securely hold the erring sons of humanity.

A lady who was afflicted with salt Rheum on the face and other parts of the body for many years and who was treated by all kinds of medicine, but failed without any but temporary relief said that Dutard's Specific has entirely cured me of my troublesome complaint and although I have not used the medicine for many months, I shall always feel grateful to you. W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

PAIR PLAY FOR PROHIBITION.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—A reader of your morning co-temporary or of the Oregonian, said to be "news" papers scans their columns in vain for any reports about the prohibition vote throughout the United States. Obituaries of, and spiteful flings against, this party of reform are about all your see. We, therefore, turn to the CAPITAL JOURNAL which, though so strongly republican in its politics, has always shown a spice of fairness, and took a patriotic stand for the prohibition amendment. Notwithstanding that the morning paper of this town had preached our funeral discourse, the Salem prohibition club met as usual, in W. C. T. U. hall, last Monday night. It is so hard to make people realize that prohibitionists have "enlisted for the whole war," they can't go back to saloon-licensing parties. Among those present were C. W. Sears, A. T. Yeaton, M. V. Rork, H. S. Jory, J. W. Webb, R. C. Leabo, Oliver Jory, J. Karnell, and a number of ladies. Without a dissenting voice it was decided that this was the opening of the campaign for 1892 which should be prosecuted with vigor. A committee was appointed to issue an address to the public as soon as the vote of the United States can be ascertained. Adjourned to meet again next Monday night. Already it is ascertained from partial returns that the St. John vote is doubled or trebled in Oregon; that in California already over 6,000 or more than double St. John's vote have been counted; that New York will likely give at least 30,000, a considerable increase over St. John, and that in the whole country, according to the estimate of the national organ, the New York Voice, the total will go over 300,000 or double St. John's number.

And all eastern prohibition papers announce meetings and speeches as the beginning of the 1892 campaign. Is it not a little early to bury a great party that has not yet died? Josh Billings said, "when you attend the funeral of a mule, better be cautious and stand at its head." While the prohibition party has heart, conscience, sympathy for the unfortunate, and a patriotism that embraces North and South, and desires to fill up the terrible bloody chasms and to soften the bitter sectional hatred fostered by the old parties, it has also remarkable vitality and staying qualities. When you preach its funeral, stand at the head. It can't help kicking at the liquor traffic that for so many years has "kicked," even while "down," the poor inebriate, womanhood and helpless childhood—the inevitable enemy of the home, the school, the church, taxpayer's boy, property and pocket book.

That you, Mr. Editor, may not be responsible for the above, I sign myself, Bro. WEBB.

Ticket agent for the only direct route to prohibition, (Beware of the old party lines that will "side-track" you at Licenseville.)

A Woman's Eloquent Plea.

At Parkersburg, West Virginia, recently, there was an exciting scene in the court room. The case was an application for a license on the part of a prominent liquor dealer named Livia. Petitions pro and con, signed by hundreds of citizens, were presented to the court by able lawyers, as the case excited general attention.

The court had listened to counsel and the decision granting a license was almost rendered when the daughter of the applicant, a beautiful young woman, and Deputy Clerk of the County Court, was informed of the fact. Rushing into the court room she raised her hands and demanded an audience. The court granted it. Then the fair complainant made such an appeal that the license should not be granted to the father as is seldom heard. Couched in the most chaste language and burning with that eloquence which the "righteousness of her cause" inspired, for twenty minutes she held the judges and her audience spell-bound. Counsel for the applicant, she added, had alleged that the petition against granting the license was signed principally by women. Rising to her full height this young woman declared "that the fundamental law of the United States gave the right of petition to all, regardless of sex." Her eloquence caused the judges to reverse their decision, and they refused the license.

The W. C. T. U. will serve dinner at their hall on Thanksgiving. Further notice will be given.

A Coming Treat.

We expect to have with us Maj. Geo. A. Hilton of Washington, D. C., about the first of January, to conduct a series of gospel temperance meetings, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. We have many testimonials with regard to his great ability and success as a Christian evangelist, but have only space for a few quotations.

George A. Hilton has closed a service in Beaver Falls that has been attended with blessed results in our Christian temperance work. He has been among us as a veritable man of God, living in the atmosphere of the Bible, entered into the Holy of Holies, pleading with men by argument and with God by prayer.

MRS. L. E. FRAZER, Pres. MRS. R. J. GEORGE, Cor. Sec. Major Hilton lectures to-night for the ninth time in nine successive days, besides conducting a devotional service every afternoon. He came as a stranger, but has so gained in public favor every day, that last night our largest hall was filled to overflowing, and it is estimated that hundreds went away unable to gain even standing room.—Cor. Christian Statesman.

No high civilization is possible to a drunken people, for one of its conditions is habitual self-control.—Mary A. Livermore.

Eugene Clymer, who is attending Medical college at Portland, made a short visit to his mother and sister last Sunday, returning to Portland Monday morning.
